The amount of this issue is $150,000,000, exclusive of the amount (if any) paid by the surrender of bonds of previous issues. The Minister of Finance however, reserves the right to allot the whole or any part of the amount subscribed in excess of $150,000,000.

The Proceeds of this Loan will be used for War purposes only, and will be spent wholly in Canada.

Principal and Interest payable in Gold
Denominations: $50, $100, $500 and $1,000

Subscriptions must be in sums of $50 or multiples thereof.

Principal payable without charge at the Office of the Minister of Finance and Receiver General at Ottawa, or at the Office of the Assistant Receiver General at Halifax, St. John, Charlottetown, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and Victoria.

Interest payable, without charge, half-yearly, June 1st and December 1st, at any branch in Canada of any Chartered Bank.

Bearer or Registered Bonds

Bonds may be registered as to principal or as to principal and interest.

Script certificates, non-negotiable, or payable to bearer, in accordance with the choice of the applicant for registered or bearer bonds, will be issued after allotment in exchange for provisional receipts. When these script certificates have been paid in full, and payment endorsed thereon by the bank receiving the money they may be exchanged for bonds, when prepared, with coupons attached, payable to bearer, or registered as to principal, or for fully registered bonds when prepared, without coupons, in accordance with the application.

Delivery of interim certificates and of definitive bonds will be made through the Chartered Banks.

Bearer bonds with coupons will be issued in denominations of $50, $100, $500, and $1,000, and may be registered as to principal only. Fully registered bonds, the interest on which is paid direct to the owner by Government cheque, will be issued in denominations of $1,000, $5,000, or any authorized multiple of $1,000.

Subject to the payment of 25 cents for each new bond issued, holders of fully registered bonds without coupons, will have the right to convert into bonds of the denomination of $1,000 with coupons, and holders of bonds with coupons will have the right to convert into fully registered bonds of authorized denominations without coupons, at any time, on application to the Minister of Finance.

Surrender of Bonds

Holders of Dominion of Canada Debenture Stock, due October 1st, 1919, and bonds of the three preceding Dominion of Canada War Loan Issues, have the privilege of surrendering their bonds in part payment for subscriptions to bonds of this issue, under the following conditions:—

Debenture Stock, due October 1st, 1919, at Par and Accrued Interest.

War Loan Bonds, due December 1st, 1923, at 97 1/2% and Accrued Interest.

(The above will be accepted in part payment for bonds of any of the three maturities of this issue)

War Loan Bonds, due October 1st, 1931, at 97 1/2% and Accrued Interest.

War Loan Bonds, due March 1st, 1937, at 95% and Accrued Interest.

(These will be accepted in part payment for bonds of the 1937 maturity ONLY of this issue.)

Bonds of the various maturities of this issue will, in the event of future issues of like maturity, or longer, made by the Government, other than issues made abroad, be accepted at par and accrued interest, as the equivalent of cash for the purpose of subscription to such issues.

Issue Price Par

Free from taxes including any income tax—Imposed in pursuance of legislation enacted by the Parliament of Canada.

Payment to be made as follows:

10% on December 1st, 1917      20% on March 1st, 1918
10% on January 2nd, 1918      20% on April 1st, 1918
20% on February 1st, 1918      20% on May 1st, 1918

A full final interest will be paid on 1st June, 1918.

The Bonds therefore give a net interest yield to the investor of about:

5.61% on the 20 year Bonds

5.68% on the 10 year Bonds

5.81% on the 5 year Bonds

All payments are to be made to a Chartered Bank for the credit of the Minister of Finance. Failure to pay any instalment when due will render previous payments made to forfeiture, and will constitute cancellation. Subscriptions accompanied by a deposit of 10% of the amount subscribed, must be forwarded through the medium of a Chartered Bank. Any branch in Canada of any Chartered Bank will forward subscriptions and issue provisional receipts.

In case of partial allotments the surplus deposit will be applied toward payment of the amount due on the January instalment. Subscriptions may be paid in full on January 2nd, 1918, or on any instalment due date thereafter under discount at the rate of 5 1/2% per annum. Under this provision payments of the balance of subscriptions may be made as follows:

The books of the Loan will be kept at the Department of Finance, Ottawa. Applications will be made in due course for the listing of this issue on the Montreal and Toronto Stock Exchanges.

Subscription Lists will close on or before December 1st, 1917.

Good Business for the Farmer

All previous Canadian loans have been subscribed largely by a few wealthy subscribers. The time has come when the people must subscribe. This money is to be used largely to buy the products of our own farms at remunerative prices. By loaning, not giving, but loaning this money, we both furnish the sinews of war and keep open the market for our products, and thereby maintain our prosperity. Besides, it is building for the future. If we invest now while we have the money to spare we will receive it back, interest and principal, at a time when we may be sorely in need of it.

The famous "Liberty Loan" of two billions of dollars floated in the United States was enthusiastically financed by an enormous number of subscribers scattered all over the country by all classes of people. By this method the burden of financing was splendidly equalized; but the good results of this will not be realized till the repayment of that loan is shared in by all those classes and sections, and not all drawn to one class of people, or one section of the country.

Let us be equally wise and equally zealous in supporting a popular loan in Canada. We want to come as near as possible to having at least one bond allotted to each man, woman, boy and girl in Alberta.

The details of the plan of purchasing these bonds will be fully explained to you by those who have the work in hand.

Each man, woman, boy and girl must do his or her share in this crisis. You cannot do it by idleness.

Each dollar must do its duty.

Dollars cannot do their duty in idleness. Do not hoard them. Do not spend them foolishly in riotous living. Send them out on a safe enterprise in the service of both country and self by investing in this "Victory Loan."

Thus invested they will be bread cast upon the waters that will return to you, perhaps in a time of great need. The United States first "Liberty Loan" was floated at 3 1/2 per cent. interest. Our Canadian "Victory Loan" bears 5 1/2 per cent. interest. Yes, get your Dollars to work, this is no time for money idleness. Each dollar invested in a "Victory Bond" works both ways, going and coming: going to help finance the buying of our farm products and coming back to you in both principal and big interest.

If you have not received a copy of the Victory Loan official prospectus with application blank attached, obtain one from the Victory Loan headquarters, Leuzler Block, Didsbury, or from the bank with which you deal. Decide to buy to the utmost of your ability. Back the boys across the pond and help them win the war.

Be careful when you buy your Victory Bonds. Those authorized to sell these bonds carry a signed permit to do so. If a stranger solicits you ask to see his card.

Dominion of Canada Government bonds are the best security which can be offered in borrowing money. They will obtain for you the best terms possible. Ask the banks.

The Victory Loan Bond as a Good Investment

In this admirably conducted Victory Loan campaign much has been said and well said of the duty of the people contributing their savings in this easy way to aid in winning the war. It is possible, however, that the other feature of the big drive, the value of the Victory bond as a safe and profitable investment has either been lost sight of to some small extent, or has not been emphasized as well as the vendors of the bonds would be justified in placing before the public.

As a sound investment, it is doubtful if anything more attractive has ever been offered to the Canadian public. The government is giving five and one-half per cent. on borrowed money, payable half-yearly, free from any taxation. The security is the best that any one can well hope to get. Compared to a Victory bond, a bank bill is questionable value. The bond has the entire country behind it.

The income from the Victory bond is nearly double the income from the same amount of money put into the savings bank and the security is very much better.

But the investment is much better than that.

In ordinary times the ordinary 6 per cent. government bond sells at par. Is it reasonable to suppose that in five years from date the ordinary four twenty-year bond will be selling at par again. If the ordinary four per cent. government bond sells at par, the Victory bond bearing five and one-half per cent. will be selling at 116.

Granting the accuracy of this calculation, which is reasonable enough, the yield in interest and appreciation in the value of the investment on a twenty-year Victory bond will be greater at the end of five years than a similar amount of money invested in eight per cent. mortgages, and the value of the security is vastly different.

Just figure it out for yourself on $1,000:

Interest at 8 p. c. for 5 years — $400
$1000 principal end of 5 years — 1000

$1,400

$1000 Victory bonds, interest

5 years ..... $ 275

Value of bond end of 5 years — 1,160

$1,435

The bond is the better investment.—Calgary Albertan.

The flashlight. It was a new danger. They could not stop to listen if they were pursued. If they were, the flashlight would reveal them to the pursuer.

Yet the road afforded them the shortest way to safety. The dunes were full of obstructions, tussocks of coarse grass, pools of brackish water, old gravel pits. The wind was crying about them so that they could hear nothing except the thudding of their pulses in their ears.

They had reached the churchyard wall, over which the crosses, leaning forward, looked as though they peered into the shadows, when suddenly Dolly uttered a cry. She had stepped on a stone and twisted her ankle.

While they stood the wind brought to them the most ominous sound in the world, the sound of running footsteps. The flashlight rose and fell. Under the churchyard wall they might be invisible from the road, but there was not a second to be lost. The churchyard gate was close at hand. If it were locked—

It was not locked. "You must hear it, my lamb," Kate Bartlett whispered, as she helped Dolly along with a hand under her arm. With the other she felt for the thing in her breast that had a smooth and comfortable surface.

They stumbled over the graves, knocked up against the headstones and the leaning crosses in the pitchy darkness following the flashlight.

They hardly dared to breathe. Margot led them through the myriad graves. They went down a step, another, under a low arch.

"It is the vault of the family," Margot whispered. "M. Rene, who was with the troops in Algiers, poor boy, is to be buried tomorrow. So the vault is open. That one there will not know. We shall be safe in the vault of the family."

While they stood huddled the running feet passed by, paused at the gate a second, and went on.

"It will have to be the dunes," Margot whispered, "before he can return. He will know we cannot have gone very far, that one. Pauvre enfant, is it so bad then?"

They struck out across the dunes. It was a slow progress. Time after time again they hid behind bushes and rocks, fearing lest the flashlight should betray them. They had many false alarms. They had struck right away from the road towards the cliffs. They had to be careful of getting too near the cliff's edge when the darkness came; yet they were grateful to the flashlight, which, while it revealed them, would have also revealed an enemy. They could not be taken unawares in the dark.

Margot chattered incessantly, as though she would make up for lost time now that the progress was necessarily slow. She talked of England and how she had been happy there in an English family. If only she had never come back!

The others hardly wondered at the strangeness of the dumb woman speaking. They sat down to rest for a few minutes, to recover breath when they were within sight of the splendide, or its headland, all its lights shining in the night, the village making dark twinkles behind it. They felt that they were safe.

"If I had but stayed in England such things would never have befallen me," said Margot in a low monotonous voice, as though she talked to herself. "I little thought to what I came back in Audignae. If I was a great sinner, Lord, have I not repented? And it was not that I would have poisoned Michel Quenelle, for all he was old and full of aches and bitter. I would have let him be if it had not been for August. He gave me the powders to put in the soup. I swear I did not know what they were. August said it was to cure Michel of losing the rider too greatly. And, after all he did not die of the poison. He flung the soup in my face and went and hanged himself in the wood shed. I was never free of him, and he haunted August till he took to the absinthe and died mad. Think of the dog's life I have led! Even the children stone me when they see me. There is no compassion, except in the good God."

Kate Bartlett looked at her with horror in her gaze. She pressed Dolly closer to her side, hoping she had not heard. To be sure Dolly had no clue. She would think it the talk of a mad woman. She had not even seemed to notice while Margot talked.

The old woman went on with her queer, monotonous chatter.

"Only that one, that villain there, looked at me as if I was not a toad. The people think me deaf and dumb. They say it is the punishment of heaven. I have gone to Les Peupliers to serve the English Monsieur that I might atone. And there was always Michel hanging in the woodshed, and there was August in the room! The son who is a natural is bad enough without ghosts. He drove Madame and Mademoiselle to Les Peupliers. He is only a great mouth to feed. The good God knows I have suffered enough."

Kate Bartlett put out a hand, half unwillingly, and touched the poor slightly creature's arm.

"You have done a good work tonight," said said. "Will not that atone? You came back in the night and the darkness which you fear to set us free."

"It came upon me that I had to do it when I returned to our cottage and found my poor child in the stable making ready. 'Where goest thou this time of night, Leon?' I asked, thinking that his poor head was bad. He answered me that at ten of the clock he was to carry Monsieur of Les Peupliers and a lady, where he did not know. As far as possible towards the frontier. Then I knew. There was once another lady. And this one—she is no more than a child."

Kate Bartlett pressed Dolly closer to her side.

"Surely you have atoned, Margot," she said. "Heaven will remember it to you."

"Ah, but I had scourge myself to go back. I am not afraid of the night—not I. I have nothing to lose. It is the woodshed, and the room where old Michel died and groaned as he was dying. And August sitting by the table with the bottle as that other one sits. Oh, it was cruel. But I went back. Perhaps the good God will remember it a little to poor Margot that I went back."

"He will remember it," Kate Bartlett said, "and listen, Margot, there is no one hanging in the woodshed. It is but an old shepherd's crook that hangs there and seems to swing to and fro. I have seen it. I have touched it. I tell you, Margot."

"A shepherd's crook for thee, perhaps, but to me Michel Quenelle."

For Pain in the Back

Also for Swollen Joints and Ankles, Constant Headaches, Urinary and Bladder Troubles and all Irregularities of the Kidneys.

And the groaning upstairs, that was cruel. And August with the bottle—

Her voice ended in a shriek. She sprang to her feet.

"We must be going," she said. "My poor child, he has the terrors too, and I have left him alone."

She fled from them at such a pace that they had some trouble, seeing Dolly's lameness, to come up with her, and she ran on before towards the lights of the village.

CHAPTER XXIII.

Lover's Meeting

Those days turning round to weeks of anxiety had aged the Squire perceptibly. Before, he had not looked his age. There had been something of the boy perpetually breaking through the simple austerity of his face.

Hilary was very tender in his way with him. Hilary's ruddy complexion and blue eyes never varied for grief or anxiety; and he assured himself that he had known both during those last months. The inaction was worst of all for the Squire. The private enquiry people had their agents in the cities of Europe—at the great termini and ports where people started for the world. After a fortnight, without results, the detectives began to suspect that Cooper had got off from Cherbourg or some other port before they were watched. The Squire still clung to his faith in Mrs. Bartlett, which was his one ray of hope. He could not have said himself why he believed as he did in the woman he knew so little of and her fidelity to him. Nevertheless, he kept himself going in these days, reminded by his own fears that Dolly had a faithful watch dog in charge, who for some reason or other was prevented from communicating with him. It would not have been so if they had sailed from Cherbourg or elsewhere. They must have come in contact with people. More likely they were kept somewhere in a solitary place, where they had no chance of sending a letter or a message.

NO TERMS YET IN SIGHT WHICH WILL LEAD TO ENDURING PEACE

STIRRING ADDRESS DELIVERED BY LLOYD GEORGE

British Prime Minister Says That No One Would Prolong the War Longer than is Necessary to Secure a Lasting Peace, and One That Will Not Lead To a More Devastating War

Right Hon. David Lloyd George, speaking at a meeting held in London recently, for the purpose of launching a campaign for greater national economy, said in part:

"I am not going to predict when the end of the war will come. No man in his senses would prolong it one hour if there were opportunity for real and lasting peace. (Loud applause.) But it must be a lasting peace. (Loud applause.) It must not be a peace which is a prelude to a new and more devastating war. As you may imagine, I have been scanning the horizon anxiously. I cannot see any terms in sight which would lead to an enduring peace. I feel that the only terms which would be possible now would be terms which would end in an armed truce—I will say an armed truce ending in even more frightful struggles."

"That is why we are putting all our strength into getting the right issue into the conflict now. (Cheers.) But I may be asked the question, Is such a settlement within immediate reach? I have already told you that in my judgment, frankly it is not. Germany in my judgment would only make peace now on terms which would enable her to benefit by the war in which she has wantonly plunged the world. That would mean that Germany would profit by her own wicked venture and it would be an encouragement for any buccannery empire of the future to repeat the experiment."

"More than twice as many German submarines were lost in the first ten months of this year as in all of last year, the premier asserted."

"The British tonnage lost monthly now is not much more than one third of the total destroyed last April."

Mr. Lloyd George said that "Holocaust" in all its shapes and forms should be looked out for.

"Beware of people who try to sow dissension, distrust and suspicion," he said. "The enemy is trying to rattle our nerves. Keep steady and we will win."

"The way to shorten the war, said Mr. Lloyd George, was to prepare for a long war. He added:

"The premier said eyes must be kept steadfastly on the great purpose of the war, which was destruction of the false ideal which would have intimidated and enslaved Europe if it had triumphed."

"Our real enemy," he continued, "is the war spirit fostered in Prussia. There would be no peace in the world until the shrine of the war spirit in Potsdam is shattered and its priesthood is dispersed and is discredited forever."

"The premier said he had hoped the enemy's terrible power might be broken this year, but that the temporary collapse of the Russian military power had postponed this hope. But time was on the side of the allies, he said. Time once was neutral but two things have changed this, namely, the advent of America and the increasing failure of the German submarine war."

"The war, said the premier, was terrible in itself, but more terrible in the possibilities it revealed of new horrors on land and sea and in the air. It must be settled now, once for all, he declared. If the war should be renewed after thirty years more of scientific application it would mean the death of civilization. Brute force must be dethroned forever."

To realize what the advent of America meant, the premier went on, it was necessary only to look back on the rapid growth of the little British army. America was now starting, and its resources in man power were twice those of Britain."

British shipbuilding, said the premier, has increased fourfold, and America had done likewise. Germany laughed at the war declarations of China and other nations, but these declarations meant that most of the world's food and raw materials were under the flags of Germany's enemies, which could reduce Germany to impotence and desolation."

Ex-cannibal's Regret

Dr. Cecil Wilson, elected Bishop of Bunbury, Australia, formerly held the See of Melanesia, which comprises what used to be called the "Cannibal Islands." There he had for a servant a young native who, before his conversion, had been a cannibal. One day the bishop received among presents from home, a tin of sheep's tongues, on which he made a raid for his luncheon. The boy looked on, his mouth watering, but with perplexity writ large on his face. He afterwards confessed that he thought the tongues were human, and that his episcopal master had relapsed into cannibalism. The dish reminded him of a delicacy which had been the delight of his unregenerate days.—London Daily News.

British Air Service

Progress in Construction of Aircraft During the War

A recent English writer on the use of aircraft in war says: "The Royal Flying Corps went to war with about eighty-two machines in passably good condition; they were dependent upon France for engines and upon Germany for magnetos. The Belgian army had about thirty efficient aeroplanes, and the French between 500 and 600. Germany took the field with more than 600 two-seated aeroplanes designed throughout for war service, besides hundreds of slower units for training and other purposes. She had strategically placed on the frontiers twenty-one flying grounds illuminated by powerful lighting systems—in one case a 27,000,000 candle power revolving electric flash—for use in night flying, while a year later British pilots attacking Zeppelins had to be content with petrol flares in buckets for lighting the landing places. A month before the war German and Austrian officers visited the concentration camp at Netheravon, and carefully noted the British strength in aircraft. From this picture the writer turns to the progress in British aeroplane construction during the war—we 'built hundreds in the first year of the war, thousands in the second, many thousands in the third, and had in view plans for the production of tens of thousands in the fourth.'"

They Cannot See the Point

Strange Grievance of German Against the United States

Germans are not saying as much nowadays as formerly about our sides of ammunition to the allies, but they still cling to the curious notion that by those sales we were guilty of prolonging the war and increasing its slaughter."

What they mean when they say that is that, because of supplies bought in this country, France and England were not conquered as easily as, in German opinion, they would have been otherwise, and many German lives have in consequence been lost. The possibility that there are advantages in this—that it would not have been good for the world to have Germany quickly victorious—does not occur to the Germans, and probably it never will."

Only this week the president of the reichstag sneered at the use of the word "humanity" by President Wilson—"the man who had the power to preserve hundreds and thousands of lives by preventing the export of munitions and war material from America to the entente."

This is surely the strangest of grievances to be presented by men in so many ways intelligent.—From the New York Times.

AMERICAN FINANCIAL EXPERT ON CANADA'S BUSINESS POSSIBILITIES

A NATION WITH THE PRIDE OF AN EMPIRE

Mr. Clinton B. Evans, Writing in the Philadelphia Public Ledger.
Tells of the Wonderful Strides Made by Canada, and Admits
The United States Can Learn Something From Her

Among distinguished American men of affairs who have recently visited Canada for the purpose of personally investigating the country's prospects and opportunities is Mr. Clinton B. Evans, editor of "The Economist," and Western editorial representative of the "Philadelphia Public Ledger." In a recent article in the "Philadelphia Public Ledger" Mr. Evans has some things to say of Canada which makes interesting reading:

"Purpose and other combination of effort have achieved wonders with seemingly small material other than that which nature has provided. The bank deposits of Canada are about the same as those of the one city of Chicago, that is, $1,500,000,000, and yet within a generation a huge wild aggregation of mountain peaks and river has been set up among the nations with its 3,700 miles from Atlantic to Pacific. A government which conceives its duty to be the promotion of the people's interests, a railroad company which 'spans the world' with rail and steamship, a population with the vigor and ambition of pioneers, a tradition that runs its trail back to the days of Charles the Second, over the history of the Hudson's Bay company—these are some of the potencies that have given a colony the pride of an empire."

"Then Canada has two rich uncles. More of a favorite with British investors than India or Australia has been this stretch of the Western Hemisphere, and the United States has turned in its funds freely. It is not merely that the Canadian Pacific was largely constructed with money from these sources and that huge and beautiful hotels were built. A country that raises prize wheat on the fifty-ninth parallel, that is more than 1,100 miles north of Chicago, that claims one-seventh of the known coal deposits of the world in the province of Alberta alone, that has untold mineral wealth in its mountains, does not appeal in vain to the owners of investible capital. For temporary accommodation, as well as large loans, the United States is handy. Banking relations are close and liberal balances are carried in American cities. There will be a stronger invitation than ever to the capital of the States now that so great an overstrain has been placed on the resources of London. In small sums, too, ninety per cent. of the tourist travel in normal years is American."

"It seems all very American in spite of some British architecture everywhere and the French in the eastern provinces. Relations with our northernmost towns—St. Paul, Minneapolis and Seattle—are close. 'The States' are not foreign."

"The United States, notably Chicago, can learn something from the new Canada. Winnipeg claims to handle more wheat than any other point on this continent. Meats will come next. The tendency is to locate all these industries at points far outlying from Chicago. But the stringent invitation is in cheap lands and the vigor of a northern population. It will be a healthy competition with our people, who perhaps are too content with their prosperous lot."

COPENHAGEN CHEWING TOBACCO

Simply Place It In The Mouth
Between Lower Lip and Gum.

This is the way to get all the flavor and satisfaction out of every pinch of Copenhagen Chewing Tobacco.

You see, "Copenhagen" is made of the best, old, high flavored leaf tobacco. The snuff process—by which the leaf tobacco is converted into tiny grains, and scientifically prepared—retains all the good of the tobacco.

Those who are trying "Copenhagen" for the first time, should remember to use only a small quantity, and to place the pinch in the mouth between the lower lip and the gum, without any attempt at chewing it.

"It's the most economical chew."

Whipping a Tired Horse Does Not Give Him Strength

YOU may whip a tired horse so that he will win a race or get his load over a bad spot in the road, but that does not add to his strength. In reality it further depletes his reserve of strength and leaves him exhausted.

And so it is with the nerves of the human body. You may by use of stimulants accomplish the work in hand or by deadening the nerves with narcotics you may stop the headaches.

Any temporary relief obtained is won at an enormous expense to the nervous system and you are left more exhausted than ever.

The introduction of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was revolutionary in the treatment of nervous diseases, because it replaced the old idea of obtaining temporary

The Food Cure

Mrs. A. North, Grand Street North, Brantford, Ont., writes: "Both my husband and I can speak very highly of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, having used it with splendid results. My husband suffered from weakness and a run-down system, and became so bad he finally had to give up work. He also had spells of melancholia. He commenced using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after a treatment of this medicine I never saw such a change in anybody. He is now able to attend to his work, and is enjoying splendid health."

"Before I started taking Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I was troubled with nervousness, sleeplessness and a pain around the heart. The Nerve Food built up my system, made me feel stronger in every way, and relieved me of the annoying symptoms from which I had suffered. We always keep Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in the house ready for use in case it is needed."

any relief with the new method of reconstructing the starved and depleted nerve cells.

A little patience is required to follow out this building-up process, but this is the only way in which disease of the nerves can be really cured. The nerves are starved for proper nourishment. You supply the nutrition in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. The results are certain, because you are working hand in hand with Nature.

As strength is restored the appetite is sharpened, digestion improves, you get the good of the food you eat, headaches disappear, you find yourself gaining in confidence, in vigor and in energy. You begin to have new ambitions, to enjoy your work and to feel again that life is really worth living.

The Wide Margins

Food and Victory to Be Gained by Co-operation of All

Herbert C. Hoover, U.S. food administrator, says that shortage in the world's food supply has caused the growth of a vast mushroom of speculation and unnecessarily high cost of living. Last year the farmers received $1.50 per bushel for their wheat but the consuming population bought their flour based on over $2.50 wheat for a large part of the year. These unnecessary margins are not confined to wheat alone.—Banker Farmer, September.

WOMEN! IT IS MAGIC! LIFT OUT ANY CORN

Apply a few drops then lift corns or calluses off with fingers—no pain

Just think! You can lift off any corn or callus without pain or soreness.

A Cincinnati man discovered this ether compound and named it freezone. Any druggist will sell a tiny bottle of freezone, like here shown, for very little cost. You apply a few drops directly upon a tender corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears, then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it right off.

Freezone is wonderful. It dries instantly. It doesn't eat away the corn or callus, but shrivels it up without even irritating the surrounding skin.

Hard, soft or corns between the toes, as well as painful calluses, lift right off. There is no pain before or afterwards. If your druggist hasn't freezone, tell him to order a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house.

Bully for British Columbia

British Columbia may well point with pride to her mineral development. The annual report of her mineralogist shows that more than half a billion dollars has been produced during the 65 years since mining began.

The value of metalliferous minerals produced is $365,560,715; coal and coke, $165,829,315; building stone, clay products, lime, $27,215,254; gold, $14,559,364; silver, $36,415,124; zinc $7,212,759.

Miller's Worm Powders will drive worms from the system without injury to the child. The powders are so easy to take that the most delicate stomach can assimilate them and welcome them as speedy easers of pain, because they promptly kill the worms that cause the pain, and thus the suffering of the child is relieved. With so sterling a remedy at hand no child should suffer an hour from worms.

An Impudent Offer

Nominal independence, a powerless king sitting handcuffed and gagged on his mournful throne; German commercial control, German possession of the railroads and the ports, a German army dominating the country and garrisoning its towns and forts. This is what Germany means when she speaks, as speak she will, of restoring Belgium. Chancellor Michaelis has the impudence to talk as if she had spoken of it already, to wonder at the refusal of the English and French to consider so handsome an offer, and to pretend that nothing stands in the way of negotiation—Belgium being thus disposed of—except Alsace-Lorraine.—New York Times.

American Donation to Canadian Red Cross

One of Uncle Sam's Soldiers Shows a Splendid Spirit

It is sometimes said that there is no sentiment in business, but it is time that, in these days particularly, sentiment plays a very large part in business. And when sentiment tends to draw allied nations still closer together it is, perhaps, the very best kind of business.

An experience with this kind of sentiment came to the notice of the land department of the Canadian Pacific railway at Calgary a short time ago. Mr. W. G. Fraser, of the aerial training station at San Francisco, had a balance of fifty dollars coming to him on a land transaction with the company. As Mr. Fraser is now lined up with Uncle Sam's fighting forces he desired that the money should go to some patriotic purpose and wrote the C.P.R. asking them to turn it over to the Canadian Red Cross. He might, of course, have had it paid direct to him, or to some American patriotic society, but he elected that it should go to the Canadian Red Cross, which a few days ago received a check for the amount.

The Ubiquitous, British

"Where are the British?" asks the German agent of the gullible American. They are everywhere. They are holding their own line in France and Belgium, rendering aid to the French line wherever needed, helping Italy batter her way to Trieste, cleaning Germany out of Africa, furnishing the bulk of Sarraïl's army in Macedonia, fighting their way through Mesopotamia, aiding the Russians in Galicia, battling with the Germans and Turks in Palestine. There is no nation among the allies whose troops are so ubiquitous.—New York Times.

Canadian Toy Imports

Over Two-Thirds of Them Last Year Came From United States

Canadian imports of toys for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1917, show that out of a total of $930,096, worth $621,504 came from the United States. Japan ranked next with $179,465, while of the balance $99,004 came from the United Kingdom and about $20,000 from France.

As compared with the fiscal year ended March 31, 1916, this is a gain for American toymakers of $172,054, for Japan of $112,500 and for the United Kingdom of about $17,000. France, however, suffered a $7,636 loss.

The most important articles imported, it is said, are dolls, with mechanical and miscellaneous toys ranking second.

China's Definition

To us the real interest in unearthing the kaiser's speech is historical. History has the laugh on Wilhelm for the very Chinamen who were expected "never again to look askance at any German" have already looked askance at 70,000,000. They did not wait a thousand years. Frightfulness has not prevented their entrance into the world war. In China, where things are generally upside down and wrong end to, they cherish the definition, "Frightfulness: That which does not frighten." And we may add that the definition has met with a cordial reception the world over.—Chicago Tribune.

THE FALL WEATHER HARD ON LITTLE ONES

Canadian fall weather is extremely hard on little ones. One day it is warm and bright and the next wet and cold. These sudden changes bring on colds, cramps and colic, and unless baby's little stomach is kept right the result may be serious. There is nothing to equal Baby's Own Tablets in keeping the little ones well. They sweeten the stomach, regulate the bowels, break up colds and make baby thrive. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Big Return for Crop

Charles Stevens of Balcarres, Sask., received a check for $8,600 as proceeds from the crop of wheat raised this year on 120 acres of land.

Men in Training

Fighting isn't the only duty of a soldier, and exposure to bullets is not as serious as exposure to all kinds of weather and dampness.

Rheumatic aches, sore and stiff muscles, strains and sprains, chilblains and neuralgia, all are enemies of the soldier, and the relief for all these pains and aches is Sloan's Liniment. Clean and convenient to carry or use; does not stain, and penetrates without rubbing. Generous sized bottles, at all Druggists, 25c, 50c, $1.00.

Interest in Sheep Raising

4,000 Applications for Sheep From Manitoba Farms

The announcement recently made by the minister of agriculture for the province of Manitoba that his department would expend $125,000 on the purchase of sheep in Ontario to be sold to Manitoba farmers at cost, has already resulted in 4,000 applications being received. The department of agriculture has now announced that it would not limit the purchase to $125,000; but it is feared that in view of the number of applications received it will be impossible to procure sufficient sheep to supply the demand. The high price which has been obtained for wool, together with the low cost at which sheep can be reared in Western Canada, is inducing a considerable number of farmers to take up sheep raising, while those who have already made a beginning in this line are making every effort to increase the size of their herds.

Suggestions that may save Much Suffering

Marysville, Pa.—"For twelve years I suffered with terrible cramps. I would have to stay in bed several days every month. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly and I am recommending it to my friends who suffer as I did."
